To Whom It May Concern,

It is my pleasure to recommend Mr. Bilaly Sangare, a doctoral candidate in Islamic Economics and Law at Istanbul Sabahattin Zaim University, Turkey, whose dissertation I have been supervising since 2025.

His doctoral research addresses the utilization of migrant remittances for sustainable development in Mali, grounded in Islamic economic principles — a subject of genuine academic and applied significance.

Throughout his academic and professional career, Mr. Sangare has demonstrated a serious and disciplined commitment to research. He maintains a sound academic standing, has contributed to peer-reviewed scholarly publications, and commands several languages, enabling him to engage effectively within diverse international academic and professional communities. He has also shown a strong capacity for independent work and constructive participation in research and professional environments.

I recommend Mr. Sangare with full confidence for academic conferences, research programs, grants and fellowships, as well as professional opportunities to which he may apply. I am certain he will prove a dedicated, productive, and valuable contributor in any setting.

Yours sincerely,

Prof. Dr. Monzer Kahf
